AS WE GATHER: Our Bible Reading of the Day is Colossians 3:1-17. In Colossians 3, the apostle Paul taught believers to remember their identity in Christ. He framed this idea with the imagery of clothing. Every person born into the world, except Jesus, is born wearing a sinful nature, and their words and actions are consistent with that nature. But those who have come to faith in Christ have put off this old self and put on the new self, which increasingly resembles the life of Jesus. In keeping with this new set of clothing, believers are to put to death the sinful desires of this earth and put on the characteristics of Christ by setting our minds on Christ.
